Tell us about your creation...

My creation is a snakes and ladders game with something extra. The extra thing is that some squares will have fun and easy exercises to do if you land on them. I chose this game because children of all ages and adults can play because the rules are easy. You don't need to spend any money because you can make your own board and counters and borrow a dice from another game.

What can people do to help them make healthy choices without spending too much money?

You could make up games to get exercise and find free places to go walking. People could decide to ride a bike instead of driving a car or going on a bus. This saves money and is healthy exercise. People could think about growing their own veggies. This could save money and it's healthy to be outside in the fresh air.

Make 2-4 counters So you can play Then get a dice Leo Under So 1-6 roll. roll the dice and move your counter and you look if there is something to do
